

Veterinary Nurse

At Brighton Veterinary Hospital, we currently employ 10 veterinary nurses and 2 veterinary receptionists. Most nurses are permanent part-time and enjoy one rostered day off per week, but we also offer full-time roles.

The veterinary nurses at BVH range in their level of experience and qualifications. Our most experienced nurses have completed a Certificate IV in Veterinary Nursing, and many have done further professional development in a special interest area.

Some of our nurses are currently completing a Certificate IV in Veterinary Nursing through a traineeship with BVH or completing it privately outside of work hours.

The Veterinary Nurse role at BVH consists of three key areas: Consulting, Surgery, and Reception. Most nurses work across all three areas; however, some nurses may work in just one or two of these areas, depending on their preference, skills, and availability.

The clinic also offers Puppy Pre School, and some deliver these programs outside of regular work hours.

We are currently seeking an experienced veterinary nurse with > 3 years veterinary nursing experience. Ideally, the successful candidate will be able to:

- Conduct nurse consultations including surgical admissions and discharges, anal gland expression, cartrophen injections, and nail clips
- Perform diagnostic tests including the collection and testing of blood, urinalysis, cytology and preparation for radiology studies
- Manage hospital patients via fluid management, TPR and wound management
- Dispense and prepare medication
- Actively monitoring an anaesthetic and recovering pets post operatively

If you are enthusiastic, have a great attitude and value teamwork, we would love to hear from you!
